Fr. Ernst Moves SJC Retreatants

An alumnus of St. Joseph's—Fr. Cyril Ernst, C.P.P.S., '21, pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Star City, Ind.—gave the annual retreat Dec. 6, 7, and 8 to the juniors, seniors and veterans at the College. He was assisted by Fr. Frederick Westendorf, pastor of St. Mark's parish in Gary, who spoke to the freshmen and sophomores.

According to the students, Father Ernst's theme was the connection between manhood and a devout practice of religion, while the central theme of Father Westendorf's talks was the preparation for being a good father—"future Catholic dads."

The student body expressed great satisfaction over the talks of the two priests, and the Student Council sent a letter to each of them thanking them for their "extra effort" in helping to make the retreat a success. The president of the Student Council, Louis Kun of Perth Amboy, N.J., estimated that almost 700 students received Communion at the Solemn High Mass which closed the retreat. This was, according to Kun, "a good indication of what the boys thought of the weekend."

Alumnus Named Head of Diocese

The Most Rev. Clarence G. Issenmann, '27, auxiliary bishop to Archbishop Karl J. Alter of the Archdiocese of Cincinnati, has been named bishop of the diocese of Columbus, O. He will succeed Bishop Michael J. Ready, who died last May.

"I don't know when I'll go to Columbus," said Bishop Issenmann after receiving the announcement by Pope Pius XII in December. "That will depend on Bishop Edward D. Hettinger, who now is administrator of that diocese. He and his colleagues will have to do all the work and when they decide on an installation date they will let me know."

Born on May 30, 1907, in Hamilton, O., Bishop Issenmann attended Hamilton Catholic high school and then St. Joseph's College for two years. "It took me two years to learn how to spell Rensselaer," he reported.

After leaving St. Joseph's he attended St. Gregory seminary in Cincinnati, the University of Fribourg in Switzerland, the Angeli-

2 Magazines to Run Lay Housing Story

Two national trade magazines have so far agreed to run stories and pictures in the near future on St. Joseph's lay faculty community.

They are Educational Business, located in New York, and College and University Business, located in Chicago. Educational Business, which until a month ago was called School Equipment News, has a circulation of 16,000, while College and University Business has a circulation of more than 6,000.

Both magazines are read primarily by school administrators on all different levels.

Commerce Club to Unite With Alumni

A new effort is being made this year to weld together into an effective organization the St. Joseph's Commerce club and its alumni in commerce. Some 40 percent of the College student body pursues either business administration, accounting or economics.

The club plans to send out questionnaires to its alumni and to bring in commerce graduates for periodically informal panel discussions in order to give the students a practical insight into the world of business and to sustain interest in the club.

The purpose of a tighter alumni-in-commerce organization, according to the club moderator, Fr. Joseph Otte, is twofold: to provide students, after they graduate, with alumni contacts in various cities throughout the country; and to strengthen the ties among the alumni themselves, particularly so an alumnus may have some place to go in looking for a new job or advice.

An enthusiastic response was given by the students to the first monthly panel discussion in the auditorium Nov. 20. The discussion leaders, who talked about opportunities in, and qualifications for, the business world, were Bob Conley, '41, of Rensselaer, a general line salesman for the Shell Oil Co.; Pat Gavin, '51, of Hammond, a salesman in the plastics division of the U. S. Rubber Co.; and Hugh McAvoy, '54, of Chicago, who is placement director at Loyola University.

Responsibility for organizing the panel discussions will rotate among the freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior commerce students. The next panel is scheduled for February.

3900 Posters Sent to Alumni

Some 3900 posters carrying the prayer "O Glorious St. Joseph" were mailed to the alumni the week before Christmas. The prayer was composed by St. Pius X and translated by Ambrose St. John.

The poster was designed by Miss Ann Grill of the art department at Barat College in Chicago. Miss Grill, who also does the art work for the Society of the Precious Blood's new quarterly, Philosophy Today, also teaches at the Chicago Art Institute. She designed the poster early in 1957 in time for the Christian Art festival at the University of Illinois last March. The poster has also been on display at the Chicago Public Library.

The posters were printed by Messenger Press at Carthage, Ohio.

top pianists, will play in the St. Joseph auditorium Mar. 4. Once a promising concert pianist in Budapest, Mr. Feyer has since shifted to popular music and now records for Vox. He has performed in Paris, Nice, Monte Carlo, Geneva and St. Moritz.

A fourth program has not yet been scheduled. The Concert series is under the direction of Mr. Richard Kilmer, assistant professor of history.

Concerts Launched By Goya, Matteo

The Carola Goya and Matteo international dancing team gave the first of four performances Nov. 19 in St. Joseph's 1957-58 Concert series.

The famed duet, which has won universal applause for its artistic interpretations, presented "A World of Dancing," comprised of the major dance forms of countries throughout the world.

Miss Goya has performed on a half dozen world tours, including every one of the United States. Matteo, renowned as both artist and teacher, is one of the world's foremost authorities on the Ethnic Dance. He has danced on such television shows as the Lux, Omnibus, Home and Firestone programs.

On Jan. 14 Richard Dyer-Bennet, a folk singer, will perform in the second concert date of the school year. Mr. Dyer-Bennet is a poet, singer, composer and instrumentalist with a universal repertoire. Besides his appearance at Town and Carnegie halls in New York, he has performed at Notre Dame, Northwestern, and the University of Chicago. He has also made a number of television appearances.

Fr. Schnurr, '32, Disarms Sailor With Tense Sermon Aboard Ship

(The following story was rewritten from several stories appearing on pages one, two and 10 of the May 29th edition of the San Francisco Examiner. Contact has not had sufficient space to run the story in a previous issue; but it is the type of story which, it is believed, will still be of more than passing interest, for the event was of more than passing importance.)

"All the way over there I prayed to the Holy Spirit to give me something to say to make this man put down his gun," said Cmdr Herman J. Schnurr, '32, senior chaplain on Treasurer Island outside San Francisco.

As it turned out, the Holy Spirit answered the chaplain's prayers; the man did put down his gun, but only after Father Schnurr had talked for more than two hours. The Holy Spirit had indeed given him something to say.

It all started about 6 a. m., last May 28, on board a Navy cargo ship at Treasure Island, where a sailor by the name of James L. Henderson, a dispersing clerk third class, had shot and killed his division officer, wounded two other men, and had seized a hostage in his flight topside to the flying bridge. The problem at that point was how to get Henderson down without anyone else being shot. He was, as the San Francisco Examiner reported, "brooding over a court-martial sentence for petty theft," for which he had blamed his division officer.

Father Schnurr was called shortly after 8 a. m. as he was cooking bacon and eggs for breakfast. Also called in to try and persuade the sailor to surrender his loaded .45 pistol, which he had cocked with his finger on the trigger the whole time, were his mother, who lived nearby in Marin City, another chaplain, and the skipper of the ship, Capt. Robert O. Beer. But the hazardous task of pleading face-to-face with Henderson fell to Father Schnurr, who afterwards said it was "the longest sermon I have ever given."

SNIPERS MOVE IN

Shortly after his mother arrived, Henderson let his hostage go. By this time the rifles of several Navy snipers were leveled on Henderson, watching for one false move. As Capt. Beer said, "We could have shot him any time, but held back out of consideration for his life. There was no danger, however, as he was always covered by four or five guns." The skipper said that Henderson was convinced that he would be shot the moment he lowered his gun.

"Once the chaplain asked Henderson what he was thinking," Capt. Beer said. "He answered that 'I'm thinking that if I shot the captain I would be shot too, and it would be all over.' I then stepped out of the picture for a while," the captain said with a smile.

Father Schnurr said that when Henderson saw the crowds gather and the men with guns, he almost panicked and for almost a half-hour considered suicide. That, said Father Schnurr, was the only time they got down to talk religion. The chaplain told him sternly that God has given him life and that Henderson had no right to take it. The gun muzzle soon dropped from against his body.

HENDERSON WEAKENS

A short time later Henderson offered the gun to Father Schnurr, but only on the condition that he shoot him with it; Father Schnurr refused. Henderson made the same offer to his mother; but, tears coursing her cheeks, she shook her head.

About 11 a. m. he showed signs of weakening. He agreed to accompany his mother, the two chaplains, and the captain to the wheelhouse. But he kept the gun.

"On radio and television," said Father Schnurr after the ordeal, "you always see a man in this position step into a situation like this, say a few words and make the man put his gun down. It isn't that easy" . . .

An order for tear gas went out, and it was brought aboard, but never used.

"There was a lot of plain and fancy praying going on," said the chaplain. "I guess neither I nor probably even Henderson will ever know exactly what made him put the gun down.

"But, at 12:30 p. m., he finally said, 'Mom, will you take the gun?' She was too scared to do it. So I stepped forward and he handed it to me."

"I WAS SCARED"

Father Schnurr said they talked about religion only incidentally, and that more of it was on whether Henderson was cold and whether he had had breakfast. In the beginning he said their conversation was almost breezy—"like a couple of old buddies"—and walked around looking out the pilot house windows.

Concerning his reaction when asked to volunteer for the assignment, Father Schnurr said, "The foundation of the military is obedience. That's what I always tell the sailors. This seemed to be my job. So I just went ahead and did it.

"But I won't fool you, I was plenty scared."

3rd Trustee Dies; Attended in 1950

John J. O'Laughlin, Sr., chairman of the board of the Oak Park (Ill.) National Bank and a member of St. Joseph's Board of Lay Trustees, died Nov. 26 in Oak Park hospital. He was 73.

Mr. O'Laughlin, who was also director of the Monon Railway Co., became acquainted with, and a trustee of, St. Joseph's in 1950. He was one of the nine lay trustees who attended the first meeting of the Board on Dec. 8 of that year. Since then three of the original members, including Mr. O'Laughlin, have died. The other two were John E. Dwyer, former president of Otis and Company, a Chicago brokerage firm, who died in January, 1951, a month after the first meeting; and Paul F. Schumacher, '24, who died last summer. Mr. Schumacher was president of Peter Schumacher and Sons, a construction firm in Mishawaka, Ind.

The other six who attended that initial meeting were Robert A. Gallagher, Indianapolis, president of the Public Service Co. of Indiana and chairman of the Lay Board; Arthur Hellyer, Chicago, president of Arthur Hellyer and Company; Morris E. Jacobs, Omaha, Neb., president of Bozell and Jacobs; Frank M. McHale, senior member of McHale, Patrick, Myers, and Cook, Indianapolis attorneys; Justin Oppenheim, '19, former chairman of New Idea, Inc., of Coldwater, O.; and Garland L. Rathel, chairman of the board of St. Joseph's hospital in Kokomo, Ind.

Also original members, but absent from the first meeting, are William A. Hanley, Indianapolis, vice-president of Eli Lilly and Company, and Richard A. O'Connor, chairman of the board of the Magnavox Co. of Fort Wayne.

Three former administrators—Fr. Alfred J. Zanolar, president; Fr. Walter T. Pax, dean; and Fr. Joseph A. Otte, treasurer—represented the College staff. Discussion at this first meeting centered about the imminence of Universal Military Training and how it would effect the College.

With the death of Mr. O'Laughlin the Board now has 14 lay members. Added since 1950 were Joseph H. Broderick, president of the Broderick Manufacturing Co. in Muncie, Ind.; Clarence H. Gramelspacher, manager of the Jasper Wood Products Co. of Jasper, Ind.; George S. Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears; Congressman Charles A. Halleck of Rensselaer; Thomas A. Lewis, an investment broker with the firm of Stifel, Nicolaus and Company of Chicago; and James B. McCahey, Sr., president of the Dunn Coal Co. of Chicago.

Mr. O'Laughlin, a resident of Oak Park and River Forest, Ill., for 50 years, was also chairman and founder of the Lay Board of Trustees at St. Mary's College of Notre Dame, Ind., chairman of the Housing Authority of Cook county, and a director of Pioneer Publishing Co. In 1947 he retired as president of the Consumers Co. of Chicago, director of the Pere Marquette railroad and other business institutions.

He had been active in philanthropic work in Chicago and Indiana. He belonged to Catholic Charities of Chicago, and had been made a Knight of the Holy Sepulcher by Cardinal Spellman of New York.

THESE TWO PICTURES are "souvenirs of by-gone days"—1901—submitted by Alfred J. Hepp, now of 907 Nevada st., Toledo 5, O., who was a St. Joseph student in that year and who is pictured in the two groups above. Mr. Hepp writes that the top picture, of St. Joseph's 1901 track team, was taken on the old handball court about 250 feet north of the Administration building "about where the fieldhouse stands today," while the lower, a picture of "some friends," was taken north of the tennis court. Both were shot in the spring of that year.

5 Gridders Make All-ICC; 5 Win All-Catholic Honors

For the second consecutive year St. Joseph's football Pumas placed five men on the All-Indiana Collegiate conference eleven.

The only unanimous choices on the squad, picked by the conference coaches, were two St. Joseph linemen—Tackle Ken Bates, a junior who also made it last year, and Guard Bill Brinkman, a senior. The other three Puma selections were senior Quarterback Ralph Tite, who was chosen for the third straight year; Center Tom Huhn, a junior; and Fullback Keith Fingerhut, a senior.

The 200-pound Fingerhut, who finished as the ICC scoring leader with 42 points and rushing leader with 442 yards, was voted the Most Outstanding Back in the conference. He succeeds Tite, the 1956 selection.

Rounding out the All-Conference team were Ends Larry Gates of Evansville and Pat Ewing of ICC Co-Coach of '57...

COACH BOB JAURON

DePauw; Tackle Dwight Tallman of DePauw; Guard Paul Furnish of Butler; and Backs Tim Brown of Ball State and Phil Mercer of Butler. Besides Tite and Bates, Tallman was the only other repeater. Ewing was selected the Most Outstanding Lineman in the conference, succeeding St. Joseph's 1956 center, Jerry Selinger.

Bob Jauron, who led St. Joseph's to its second undisputed conference title, and Bob Hicks, whose DePauw team finished third with a 3-2 mark, were voted co-Coaches of the Year. Jauron won the honor outright in 1955 when the Pumas tied Evansville for the championship. Last season Tony Hinkle, coach of the second-place Butler Bulldogs, received the award.

Individual honors on three All-Catholic teams have also come to five Puma gridders. End George Sherwood, a senior, was selected to the second team Catholic Little All-America by the Brooklyn Tablet, and Brinkman and Fingerhut received honorable mention.

Sherwood, Tite and Halfback Les Klein received honorable mention on the first annual Catholic Digest Catholic College All-American team (in the January issue). The magazine erroneously listed Tite as a tackle.

Tite also repeated on the first team of the All-Midwest Catholic college eleven, chosen by the La-Crosse (Wis.) Register, which also picked Brinkman on the first squad and gave honorable mention to Fingerhut.

Next season Jauron will lose eight men by graduation from his 30-man 1957 squad—five backs and three linemen. In addition to Tite, Brinkman, Sherwood and Fingerhut, they are Quarterback Jim O'Brien, Halfbacks Danny Lyman and Bob Hamman, and Guard Ray Knight.

Pumas Break 8 ICC Marks in Title Drive

St. Joseph's football team set eight all-time Indiana Collegiate conference records in their march to the 1957 undisputed championship.

Last season the Pumas set 15 records but they were held down statistically this year because of the Valparaiso cancellation, which gave St. Joseph's a five-game conference schedule instead of six.

Five individual marks and three team records were rewritten. Ed

Figures Show Pumas Among Nation's Best

Final small college statistics released by the NAIA and the NCAA show St. Joseph's football team to have been one of the strongest and most well balanced football squads in the nation in 1957. Only Florida A & M, which played only seven games, ranked consistently ahead of the Pumas on both sets of statistics.

Pumas Hold 3-3 Pre-Holiday Mark

St. Joseph's sophomore-dominated cagers finished their six-game pre-holiday stint with a 3-3 record that came very close to reading 5-1. They are 2-1 in the Indiana Collegiate conference.

Only once have the Pumas been beaten decisively, by Xavier in the opener, 74-56. Even in this game they trailed at the half by only 34-27. After squeaking out a 58-57 victory at Wabash, St. Joseph's launched their ICC chase with a tasty 64-56 win at Valparaiso.

The Pumas opened their home season Dec. 10 by dropping a 65-59 encounter to defending champion DePauw, which had to overcome a 36-31 halftime deficit. After whipping Indiana State handily, 74-51, on the Collegeville court, St. Joseph's closed out their pre-holiday schedule Dec. 16 with a 64-63 loss to Bellarmine College at Louisville.

The strong points on the club so far have been the zone defense, which has held the opposition to an average of 61 points per game; the play of the sophomores, particularly starters John Bishop at center and Jack Finnegan at forward; and the rebounding, which appeared to be the big problem before the season began. The Pumas, led by the same sophomores Bishop (6-5) and Finnegan (6-3), have averaged 48 rebounds per game against their opponents' 42. Bishop, who never played a game of high school ball, has averaged 13.3 per game, followed by Finnegan with 10.2.

Scoring Weak

The weak spot to date has been the scoring, particularly in the front line which has averaged only 26.2 points per game. The brunt of the offense has been carried by starting Guards Dan Rogovich, with 15.7 points per game, and George Lux, with 14. Bishop has averaged 11.2, Finnegan 8.7, and Greg Jancich 6.3. In addition to his starting five, Coach Dale O'Connell has used only one other man with any consistency—sophomore Forward Bob Williams, who paced the freshmen last year with a 20.3 average.

As a team the Pumas have averaged 62.3 points per game and have shot at a .387 clip, compared to 364 for the opposition. Xavier 74, Pumas 56 game schedule at Cincinnati Dec. 1, battled the lanky Xavier squad on even terms until midway in the first half when Muskie Forward Joe Viviano hit five straight jump shots to give Xavier a commanding 25-14 lead. The losers, outshot (.411 to .339) and out-rebounded (51-39), were led by Lux and Rogovich with 22 and 17 points, respectively. Viviano paced both teams with 24.

Pumas 58, Wabash 57
St. Joseph's 58-57 win over Wabash came in the last three seconds on a lay-up by Bishop. It was an uphill struggle for the Pumas, who trailed by as much as 14 points in the first half and 33-27 at intermission. Lux paced both teams with 19 points, with Rogovich scoring 14 and Bishop 13.

Pumas 64, Valpo 56

The 64-56 victory over Valparaiso Dec. 7 was the Pumas' first on the Crusaders' court since February, 1953. All five starters scored in double figures as St. Joseph's took the lead at the outset and never relinquished it, leading 36-24 at halftime. Unable to crack the zone defense, the taller (6-3) Crusaders were also out-manuevered by the Pumas (6-1) on the boards, 52-41. Jancich led the Pumas with 14 points, followed by Rogovich and Finnegan with 13 and Lux and Bishop with 12. Finnegan took personal charge of the boards with 21 rebounds, the single-game high for any Puma this season.

DePauw 65, Pumas 59

Against DePauw the Pumas shot at a blistering .536 clip in the first half to take a 36-31 halftime lead, but fell off to .231 in the second half, when they went for one nine-minute stretch with only two points while the Tigers were building a 64-52 lead. DePauw caught the Pumas with 15 minutes to go when they took a 42-40 lead and were never headed. Bishop led St. Joseph's with 14 points.

Recommend Boys Now for '58-'59

Applications for the 1958-59 school year are already coming in at a fairly fast rate, so if you have any potential St. Joseph's College students in mind for next fall, it is strongly advised that recommendation for admission be made now.

Each year the number of requests for admission into St. Joseph's becomes greater and each year the College enrollment is filled at an earlier date. According to Fr. Richard P. Baird, admissions counselor, it became evident that if the College is to make the best use of its limited housing facilities, it must become even more selective in its choice of students and thus the entrance requirements have been raised.

The enrollment for September, 1957, was filled early in April. Unfortunately many well qualified students seeking admission had to be turned down. Some of these had been recommended by alumni, students, parents of students, and other friends of the College at a late date.

The College, reports the Admissions office, feels that its loyal friends should be given the first opportunity to recommend qualified students for admission, and early application is also urged.

Please send the name and address of the potential student(s) you wish to recommend, to Father Richard P. Baird, Admissions Counselor, St. Joseph's College, Collegeville, Ind.

game and the Pumas were off and running, building their lead to 40-20 at intermission. O'Connell emptied his bench midway in the second half as Rogovich led all scorers with 22 points. Bishop and Finnegan took control of the boards with 15 and 14 rebounds respectively while the Pumas were shooting at a hot .432 percentage.

Bellarmino 64, Pumas 63

St. Joseph's took a 27-24 half-time lead against Bellarmine and the Knights never caught them until, with 29 seconds remaining, they knotted the score at 61. At this point the Pumas incurred an automatic technical foul when they mistakenly called a sixth time out, and Bellarmine forward Al Stevenson sunk the free throw to make it 62-61. With 13 seconds to go Knight Joe Reibel was fouled and made both free throws, giving Bellarmine a 64-61 lead. Rogovich brought the ball down-court and, unhindered by the defense, hit on a jump shot, but the gun sounded a few seconds later.

Reibel and Rogovich tied for scoring honors with 22 points apiece. Although Bellarmine averaged 6-3 in height, St. Joseph's outclassed them under the boards, 53 rebounds to 35.

The game was reminiscent of last year's at Louisville when the Knights edged the Pumas 70-68 in the last five seconds of play.

Pumas Rank High . . .

in rushing, third in total defense, fifth in rushing defense, and fourth in passing defense. Thus they ranked among the first five in the nation in five of the six categories listed. The only category in which they did not rank was team passing.

Although the two teams selected by the NAIA to play for its second annual small college national championship in the Holiday Bowl Dec. 21—Hillsdale (Mich.) and Pittsburg State College (Kan.)—were both undefeated, Hillsdale ranked (among the first 25) in only two categories and Pittsburg in four. Hillsdale ranked 13th in total offense and fourth in team passing, while Pittsburg ranked 10th in rushing, ninth in total defense, 14th in rushing defense, and 19th in passing defense.

Also, neither of these two teams' schedules included an opponent in the same class with Xavier, which handed St. Joseph's its only defeat in 1956 and 1957.

In the final NCAA small college statistics, the Pumas rank fourth in total offense, fourth in rushing, fourth in total defense, sixth in rushing defense, and ninth in pass defense.

Dick Dunkel's Sports Service placed St. Joseph's 100th in the nation among both major and small colleges with an index of 72.3 (right behind Xavier which was rated 72.4). Pittsburg State ranked 125th at 65.0 and Hillsdale placed 156th with 59.5. Butler, which finished second in the ICC to the Pumas, ranked 131st with a 64.1 index.

"He might have inspired another Pasteur..."

"You should have watched him in the classroom. Any college president would have been as proud of him as I was."

"It was almost magic the way he created a love for learning in his students. You could see it in their eyes . . . and in their work."

"He looked worn out the day he finally made up his mind. Told me there wasn't anything in the world he'd rather do than teach . . . hardest decision he'd ever made to give it up."

"But how can I provide the kind of life I want for my family on my college teacher's pay?" he asked.

"I didn't have an answer for that one. So, he's leaving for a new kind of job at twice the salary."

"But . . . who knows what a world of good he might have inspired as a teacher!"

Unfortunately for America, this same scene is being repeated all over the country. Men and women whose talents as teachers could bring great things to pass are leaving academic life for other fields.

This incredible waste hurts all of us. For we may well be losing the inspiration that could lead some young mind to discoveries benefiting the whole human race.

As a nation whose very destiny depends on the development of brain-power, can we afford to let this situation continue?

Help the colleges or universities of your choice. Help them plan for stronger, better-paid faculties. The returns can be greater than you think.
